

Leading Change Managers Workshop

WAYDE CONSULTING

Supporting your organization and your employees through change

Change is inevitable and can be a challenging process. The right tools and techniques can help you navigate this process.

Managers are responsible for leading employees through organizational changes, but often have not been taught the skills to succeed.

This workshop is designed to help managers understand the change process and their role in leading change as a trusted manager.

The workshop guides managers through interactive exercises and discussions that provide managers with the practical knowledge and tools to successfully lead teams through change.

Agenda

- Individual Change
- Framework for Change
- Leading Employee Change

Objectives

In this workshop, managers will:

- Understand the impact of change on emotion and behavior
- Learn how to make a personal choice to buy-in to the change
- Clarify the role of a manager in leading change
- Apply a framework for change
- Evaluate the employee change journey
- Practice communicating change effectively
